BACKLASH

(Commentary from the Board of Directors)

September Membership Meeting: Fish Handler’s Disease

At the September Membership Meeting, Dr. Julie Ball, an experienced angler who was recently appointed as the latest IGFA Representative for the Commonwealth, will be our featured speaker.

Julie will be presenting information on fish handler’s disease, an insidious malady that has appeared in the Chesapeake Bay.

This disease is detrimental to both striped bass and anglers who may contract it thru an open sore. Julie will join us for dinner prior to the meeting. Wives and significant others are invited to hear Julie’s presentation.

October Membership Meeting: “Close By And Worth A Try”

October will feature a program providing information on local freshwaters that are close by and worth a try. VAC Member and Chief of Fisheries of the DGIF, Gary Martell, is working up a program featuring information on productive freshwater fishing spots that are owned and managed by the DGIF and are a 90 minute or less drive from the Richmond area and that have produced their share of citation freshwater fish.

The Leadership of the VAC thanks Members Capt. Mike Ostrander and Fred Murray for their fine presentation at the August Membership Meeting a program about angling for catfish in the James River. Both members know the James River very well and know how to extract excellent catches from this local river.

William “Will” Mosley Becomes VAC Member

“Will” Mosley was elected to membership in the Virginia Anglers Club at the September 12th Board of Directors

Meeting. Will was Stuart Lee’s guest at the August Membership Meeting. Saltwater is Will’s preference for angling and he lives in Hopewell, VA. Stuart was Will’s first sponsor and Glenn Carter was his second sponsor. Please make yourself known to Will when you see him next. Welcome Will and enjoy your membership.

Former Virginia Anglers Club Member Capt. Doug Crawford Passes

Locally known charter captain, Wayne Douglas “Doug” Crawford, passed away on September 10, 2006. Doug was a member of the Virginia Anglers Club in the early 1990’s. His charter boat was named the “White Lightning” and was fished out of Virginia Beach and later from Cape Hatteras, NC.

2007 VAC Tournament Schedule Has A New Look

The 2007 Virginia Anglers Club Tournament Schedule will have a new look. The new format will include tournaments with longer periods over which some tournaments in the coming angling year can be fished. This new, relaxed schedule was adopted to allow more Members to find free time to participate in tournaments in 2007. More social gatherings at the end of tournaments will also be offered. The VAC Leadership Team feels that too many Members had conflicts that forced them to miss participation in past tournaments with the traditional two or three day schedule that fell only on weekends and holidays. The new format will offer a mix of two week and 30 day tournament durations. The club cannot control the weather or the mood of the fish. We do have the ability to schedule more days within any given tournament. Please check with Angling Rules Tournament Chairman Bob Brown for any questions you might have.

Silent Auction Will Be Featured At The October Membership Meeting

A special silent auction will be held during the October Membership meeting, the proceeds of which will go to the angling environment enhancing activities of the club. A pair of prints of two finely rendered pen and ink architectural drawings showing the ironwork at the top of the Cape Hatteras Light House will be offered in the silent auction.

One print is an elevation of the upper portion of the Cape Hatteras Light House and the other is a companion elevation and half section rendering revealing the interior details of this famous landmark. Each print is 12 inches wide and 18 inches high and is presented unframed. Small copies of each print are found elsewhere in this edition of the Angler. Both prints will be available for inspection at the September Membership Meeting. Look in the October Angler for more details on the auction.

New Venue Selected For The Annual Awards Banquet in January 2007

This year's Virginia Anglers Club Annual Meeting / Awards Banquet will be held at the Virginia Crossings Resort on January 27, 2007. The Resort is the former Figi's facility located just off I-95 north of Richmond. As in years past, the meal will be a buffet offering and a cash bar will be available. Banquet Chairman Eddy Johnston conducted an extensive search over a four-month period for a new venue for this annual event. The Resort provided the best value while maintaining the quality of our banquet meal and setting.

Eddy found that banquet prices have risen in the Richmond Area. The new meal cost per person will increase about $15.00. The Board of Directors voted not to return to the Meadowbrook Country Club because a large, hidden usage fee was imposed on the Club after the 2006 Banquet was over and the bill will was presented. The proposal from the Virginia Crossing Resort has all charges spelled out in detail. The Club runs the Banquet as a breakeven event.

Country Store Closed For The September Membership Meeting

The Country Store will be closed at the September Membership Meeting. Storekeeper Eddy Johnston's will not be present at the meeting. If you need an item from the Store, please give Eddy a call and he will be happy to make available items you want at his home or at another mutually agreeable spot. The Store will reopen at the October Membership Meeting.

Calendars – Mostly Gone

Most of the 300 new Department of Game and Inland Fisheries 2006 - 2007 Calendars purchased for use as a resale fund raiser for the VAC have been sold or are in the hands of members with proven selling results. Any copies unsold to date will be available at the September Membership Meeting. See President Bob Shepherd for copies (@$8.00 per copy).

CATCHY COMMENTS

by Danny Noland

Elly Robinson finished off the month of August in grand fashion by taking all three places in the Angler of the month competition. Elly's third place entry was a potential world record Almaco Jack, 26-8 lbs on 6# gen for 294 points. His second place entry was a nice 16-4 lb African Pompano on 6# spin for 361 points. Elly finished off his AOM sweep with a 29-0 lb Barracuda on 8# spin for 362 points. I was amazed at how humble Elly was after his sweep. I'm sure he will be buying Bruce Henderson's dinner this month at the meeting for putting him on all these great fish. These entries scored 1017 points and moved Elly into the lead for Angler of the Year competition with a total of 2129. Fred Cousins is still a close second, but Elly is trying to stretch out his lead.

Bruce Henderson finally got to land a couple of fish on his boat this summer out of Hatteras. Bruce turned in a 19-8 lb Barracuda on 6 spin for 300 points and followed that entry up with a 12-0 lb African Pompano for 266 points. Jennifer Henderson took the Spouse lead with a 26-0 lb

Barracuda on 6# gen for 346 points. That's a great catch Jennifer. If I'm not mistaken, I think Elly had said that you had several Cuda's that day and earned every one due to the rough conditions.

Mike Ostrander gave an excellent program at the August meeting on his techniques for catching giant Catfish on the James. Fred Murray also gave us a few tips on catching these big Catfish on Spin, Plug and Fly tackle. Elly and Robbie Robinson decided to take advantage of Mike's expertise and fished the upper James with him later in the week. They had several Flatheads, with Elly's 21-12 lb on 4 general for 294 points being the best catch of the day. Eddie Johnston took off some time from trying to plan our annual banquet, for a little Gar fishing on the James. Eddie still keeps his title as king of the Gar with a 9-12 lb on 2# general for 283 points.

Scott Johnston is still working over the Spot with a Fly rod. Its time for those big yellow belly spot to start showing up, so I bet next month you will see Scott with some new club records.

The angling year is coming to a close, so lets wet some lines.

Fall Speckled Trout Fishing

By Capt Mark Horner
August 2006

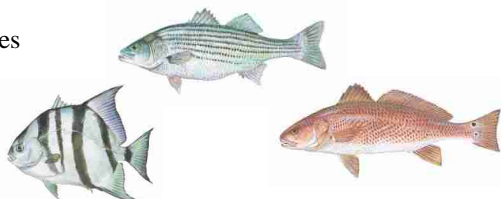

With the air and water cooling, the speckled trout should be on the upswing. These fish will begin to feed more aggressively with fall's cooling weather. Areas to look for are grass beds, oyster bars and various other similar structure. Many of the same techniques used for freshwater fishing, (grubs/Texas rigged worms/Carolina rigs/crank baits/stick baits/etc.) will work on these fish. Fly-fishing for these fish is another method that has been successful. Regardless of the method for getting the lure in the strike zone the colors tend to be the same for all techniques: chartreuse over white/red and white/pumpkin and chartreuse, other variations of these combos tend to work as well.

Being quiet is very important while speckled trout fishing: use of the electric motor or poling the boat is the required means of propulsion. If the wind and tide are working in your favor, drifting the area to be fished is very effective, drifting can be managed by the aide of a drift sock (this can slow your drift). Many times when you locate a school of fish you can quietly anchor the boat and work the area for some time. When fly-fishing for these fish the use of a sinking line is very helpful, a 200 or 250 wt. line seems to work best for me, I can cast this line all day without tiring my arm and still get very good distance. The longer cast does allow me to cover more water, which keeps the fly in the feeding zone longer. The fly of choice is the clouser or any streamer that will get down into the feeding zone. When fishing plastics a 1/4 oz jig head seems to work best. Popular places to hunt for these fish are; Mobjack bay area, Poquoson Flats, Hole in the Wall, and Damron Marsh. Old reliable places such as Windmill Point/North End and Piankatank River do not seem to be producing fish as they did in the past.

It is no secret that the numbers of these fish have been falling for the past few years; this is in no doubt because of the illegal netting practices that occur along the Poquoson Flats and Mobjack Bay area. These fish can be very fickle, one day you get on them and they will feed and the next they will not. Having been able to sight cast to these fish in Texas and Florida really gives one some insight to this eating habit (or lack of). Hope this will help you catch that trophy 5lber.

Please practice catch and release.

Tight lines
Mark

The View From Up North

By Steve Luterek
September 2006

As I sit here unable to fish this weekend due to inhospitable weather and water conditions, I thought I would share some New York area fishing statistics I ran across recently ...

In August 2005 the Cabela's Master Walleye Circuit had a stop in Dunkirk, NY, which is the general area I usually fish in, approximately 30 miles west of Buffalo, NY. A record 10 fish basket was weighed in setting a new circuit record of 71.53 pounds.

A 2005 creel census was taken for the various tributaries of Lake Ontario. Region 7 fisheries biologists reported two of the top tributaries for fishing action from September to November were the Salmon River in Oswego County and 18 Mile Creek in the Town of Newfane, Niagara County. 18 Mile creek is about 20 miles west of Oak Orchard towards Buffalo, NY.

The "reel" shocker was with Brown Trout, where 26,266 fish were caught in 18 Mile Creek, the most productive in New York State. Of that number 1,284 were harvested and the balance released. The next closest Brown Trout total was the Salmon River with 5,517, Sandy Creek with 4,844 and Oak Orchard River checked in with 3,329 fish.

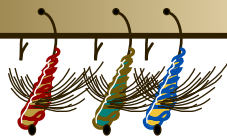

For Steelhead, the top stream was the Salmon River with 7,738 fish caught and 1,141 creeled. Not far behind was 18 Mile Creek with 6,476 and Oak Orchard was a close third at 6,136.

In the Salmon department, the Salmon River outproduced the others with 89,441 caught, 25,998 harvested. On 18 mile creek, 11,743 were caught. The statistics for Oak Orchard were not published in this report, but it continues to be a favorite area of some fishermen. Since the state has cut back on stocking efforts in this area, the local charter captain association has been running a pen-rearing project for a good number of years that has started to show larger numbers of fish returning to Oak Orchard every year. My personal best was a 35 - 8, fishing out of a 16' boat casting small spoons on 12 Spin.. That was my pre VAC days; otherwise you would see a card faster than you can say Big Salmon. I've attached a photo for those interested.

Some helpful links to help VAC members that are interested in our area are:

I hope you find these statistics and websites helpful and look forward to seeing the membership at the September Meeting.
